Position(s) I am nominating for: Publications Director

Why I am a strong candidate: I have strong verbal and written communication skills, an enthusiastic attitude and a great interest in producing content. I believe that my communications experience and passion for social media, writing and design would make me a strong candidate for the role of Publications Director.

What I will bring to the role: I will bring a great work ethic, strong leadership skills, the ability to work well under pressure and a positive attitude. I will be dedicated and prioritise the role of Publications Director, ensuring all deadlines are met and that The Full Bench and The Bar continue to be successful avenues for students to expand their knowledge and understanding of law.

Previous experience that will assist me: My current role as a social media manager for my small business The Social Sunflower will assist me with design and content creation. I have also volunteered in the communications team for Bayside Women's Shelter for the last three years, where I have utilised two-way communication between the shelter and the public through email and a variety of social media platforms. In 2018, I undertook the position of Publications Junior for UTSoc, where I was an integral part of both the online and print publication development. Furthermore, my leadership skills on the Our Lady of the Sacred Heart leadership team in 2017 and the ongoing leadership I display as a valued member of South Maroubra SLSC will be extremely beneficial in assisting me in the role of Publications Director.

How I will assist Council in 2021: I will assist Council in 2021 by being taking initiative, being a team player and producing work that will enhance the opportunity for Law Students to read and listen to important information that will develop their understanding and provide new perspectives of the legal industry. I will also increase the visibility of The Bar podcast, and effectively lead a publications subcommittee.
